

WHAT IS THE DELTA FORCE COMMITTEE?

The NABIP Delta Force Committee is a special committee created to help NABIP shape the future of healthcare. It identifies challenges affecting consumers, employers and NABIP members and explores strategic opportunities to improve the healthcare system.

SHAPING THE FUTURE OF HEALTHCARE

Delta Force is a forward-thinking group designed to critically view our healthcare system, identify and generate ideas, evaluate possible solutions, and bring thoughtful recommendations to NABIP leadership.

WHY NABIP?

NABIP members work at the intersection of consumers, employers, carriers, providers, policymakers and the private health insurance market — giving NABIP a unique perspective on practical solutions to improve healthcare.

WHY WAS DELTA FORCE CREATED?

Delta Force was created because healthcare in America continues to face serious challenges, including rising costs, access issues, affordability concerns, system complexity, and barriers that affect consumers, employers, and NABIP members (the professionals who serve them).

NABIP members work at the intersection of consumers, employers, carriers, providers, policymakers, and the private health insurance market. Because of that, NABIP is uniquely positioned to identify practical, private-sector solutions that can improve healthcare affordability, accessibility, transparency, and value.

Delta Force gives NABIP a dedicated space to think beyond immediate issues and focus on long-term healthcare transformation, providing strategic ideas and recommendations for consideration by the NABIP Board of Trustees.

WHO IS INVOLVED?

Delta Force is made up of NABIP leaders, members, and subject matter experts who can help evaluate healthcare challenges and identify strategic opportunities.

The Committee may also collaborate with NABIP stakeholders, staff, committees, councils, and other experts when additional insight or support is needed.

WHO DOES DELTA FORCE REPORT TO?

The Delta Force reports ideas and recommendations directly to the NABIP Board of Trustees. Delta Force is not a function or working group of the Legislative Council but will collaborate with NABIP's three councils as appropriate and as directed by the Board.

WHEN DOES DELTA FORCE MEET?

Monthly meetings are used to brainstorm ideas, review healthcare challenges, evaluate potential projects, analyze solutions and recommendations, and prepare and recommend items for Board of Trustees consideration.

WHERE DOES DELTA FORCE FIT WITHIN NABIP?

Delta Force serves as a strategic idea and recommendation body within NABIP. Its role is to identify and shape ideas, not necessarily to implement every idea itself. Once an idea is reviewed by the Board of Trustees, the next step may involve Delta Force, NABIP staff, another committee, a council, a special workgroup, or another assigned group depending on the nature of the recommendation.

HOW DOES DELTA FORCE WORK?

Healthcare presents many opportunities for improvement. Delta Force follows a simple idea-development process:

1. IDENTIFY — Identify a healthcare challenge or opportunity through committee discussion or assignment from the Board of Trustees.
2. EVALUATE — Discuss and analyze the issue, conduct research as needed, and draw on committee members or other subject matter experts.
3. REFINE — Develop and refine potential solutions and determine whether an idea is ready to become a formal recommendation or requires further analysis.
4. RECOMMEND — Present recommendations to the Board of Trustees for consideration and respond to Board feedback and direction.

HOW ARE PROJECTS SELECTED?

Delta Force focuses on ideas that are strategic, timely, and aligned with NABIP's mission, the Delta Force charter, and the priorities outlined in the approved Healthcare Bill of Rights. The Healthcare Bill of Rights serves as a foundational document that helps identify the challenges and areas within healthcare that need to be addressed, while the Delta Force charter guides the group's role and purpose in developing ideas and solutions.

When evaluating an opportunity, the committee should consider:

- ✓ Does the project address a real healthcare challenge?
- ✓ Will solutions support NABIP members and ultimately consumers and employers?
- ✓ Does it align with NABIP's Healthcare Bill of Rights, mission, and priorities?
- ✓ Is it forward-thinking and strategic?
- ✓ Is it actionable?
- ✓ Should the project be assigned to another council or committee?
- ✓ Could a solution lead to a recommendation, resource, policy concept, partnership, pilot program, or other meaningful outcome?

PROACTIVE SOLUTIONS. NOT REACTIVE.

Delta Force exists to focus on proactive solutions in the healthcare arena – not reactive.
